

THE EVENING BULLETIN

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1855.

Congressman W. R. Morrison, of Illinois, is seriously ill.

Colonel Thomas L. Jones is now suggested as Minister to Austria.

The United States Consul at Havre reports that cholera is increasing at Mar-selles.

It is now said that a revenue agent for Kentucky will not be appointed until late in the fall.

A cyclone in Loup valley, Neb., nearly destroyed the town of Ord. Many buildings were blown down.

ROBERTSON County gave Judge O. S. Denning, the Republican candidate for Representative, 354 majority.

Yellow fever exists in Mazatlan and Tehuantepec, Mexico. Dr. Carmona is practicing a system of vaccination.

Hon. L. J. FRAZER, of Louisville, has been tendered the position of Assistant Superintendent of Yellowstone Park.

A DISPATCH from the Afghan frontier says a collision between bodies of Afghan and Russian troops is not improbable.

An alliance has been concluded between Great Britain and China for mutual action in case of war between England and Russia.

The civil service commission has decided that Postmaster Jones, of Indianapolis, has not violated the law in making appointments.

MINISTER KELLY will return to the United States, and, it is understood, will resign his present office, and that he will not be appointed to another foreign mission.

THE people are fleeing from Spanish villages, leaving the sick without attendance and the dead unburied. There are no physicians or medicines in many places.

An insect formed something like the fire fly is destroying some of the gardens in this neighborhood. It seems to prey upon every kind of vegetation and is as rapid in its ravages as the potato bug.

It is estimated that the total Revenue collections for the current fiscal year will reach $15,000,000. The collections during the last fiscal year were $12,500,000 and the cost of collection $4,500,000. This year the expense will be $600,000 less.

The cholera in Spain is the most destructive epidemic the world has known during the present century. This terrible disease is spreading every day, and the chances to stop its ravages are constantly decreasing. The fifth and poverty of the people afford most excellent conditions for its continued fatality among the provinces.

The decision of the Attorney General in the case of John Thompson, the Kentucky distiller, is that the owners of distilled spirits in bonded warehouses upon which the tax is overdue, must pay the tax when the seven months under the McCulloch circular is up. The present officers of the Treasury Department intend that the tax shall be paid or the goods seized. It will save those concerned trouble and expense if they prepare to pay the tax if the goods are to remain in the country.

The Russellville Herald-Enterprise says: "Those of our people who get dissatisfied with Kentucky and go West to find a place where they can 'make plenty of money' nearly always miss their calculations. Having had a pretty extensive acquaintance with the western people, the country, climate, etc., our advice to any one who is making a living in Kentucky is to stay at home, practice economy and look to the future for success. Here he can have tenfold more comforts than can obtain in a new home."

The death of General Grant impressively suggests the rapidity with which the prominent figures in the late great struggle are passing away. Few of the commanders who held high positions in either army now remain. Grant and Lee, Meade and "Stonewall" Jackson, Thomas and Hood, Scott, Halleck, McDowell, Burnside and Hooker, with Hill, Stuart, Ewell, Bragg and Pemberton, conspicuous among the Confederate commanders, are dead. Generals Sherman, Sheridan, Hancock and McClellan are among the most conspicuous survivors of the Union soldiers; Joseph E. Johnson, Longstreet, Beauregard and Buckner, of the Confederates. Twenty years have rolled away since the horrors of battle ceased, yet the harvest of death has gone on with uninterrupted steadiness. The completion of another period of twenty years will find the roll of distinguished soldiers practically exhausted; while the rank and file who carried the muskets there will remain but a corporal's guard of superannuated veterans.

or a profuse display in a smaller measure becomes a touch, here and there, of mourning. The black draperies and festal flags do not challenge attention, but rather are intended to lend a cast of woe to a solemn occasion. The broad front of Music Hall was covered with a long, pale, white draper, by placing a mourning badge upon its bosom, as it were. From the stone harp above the central entrance, black streamers were drawn down to some flags and black and white cloths and national colors in mourning.

About the first thing which strikes the eye upon entering is the small, pale, thin, and wan face of the dead, which has drawn a black. A double significance is attached.

That of a dead philanthropist as well as a dead warrior and statesman. Here the pallars are covered with black cloths, and the main hall also wear pale draperies, and are decorated by engravings of Grant.

The central entrance is filled from the waist up with a black, draped, and decorated

At Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—The entire city of Chicago and thousands of people from the vicinity are altogether given up to either taking part in or else witnessing the imposing funeral cortage that is marching through the streets. The rain that began to fall quite early in the afternoon did not stop, but the procession went on, and those who had determined to take part in or witness the ceremonies. At an hour the Lake Front, where rendezvous was going on, they extended from the waterfront to the Harbor. At 4 P.M. at 16th street, the funeral march began, headed by patrol wagons appropriately draped and a battalion of 350 police.

The first division, state military organizations and independent organizations.

The catafalque decked on each side and followed by details of the three Veteran soldier organizations, of which Gen. Grant was a member, viz., the Royal Legion, Grand Army and Veterans' club.

Second division is composed of the veteran military organizations.

Third division consists of the mayor and city and county officers and fire department, with engineers and drivers.

Fourth division consists of Federal officers, custom house and post office officials. Mail wagons, appropriately draped, 350 uniformed letter carriers, judges of United States court, drummers, police clerks, 200 revenue and custom envelope, 300 laborers at the United States building.

Fifth division, Masonic societies, cemetery and commanders.

Sixth division, Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Seventh division, Knights of Pythias.

Eighth division, uniformed civic societies.

The line of march was from the Lake Front westward, through 16th street to the Calumet to Market, east to Monroe to Jackson, to Dearborn; Dearborn to Madison, to State; State to Van Buren, Van Buren to Lake Front. Every available space on the lake front was crowded. It is estimated that 10,000 persons were in line. Business is generally suspended.

As a accident.

New York, Aug. 10.—Col. Scott, of the Eighth regiment, had his right leg broken by his falling horse at 5th Avenue and Fourteenth street. He was attended by Surgeon Reilly and removed to St. Vincent's hospital.

On the fore and mizzen-masts of each vessel the starboard yard arms were topped up and on the main-masts the port yard arms were tipped up. Just as soon as it was learned the procession had started the Dispatch fired twenty-one minute guns. As soon as the Dispatch ceased firing the How-hattan and the other vessels fired twenty-one minute guns each in succession. At sunset the guns will have down color and repeat the process.

On the arrival of the head of the procession at Riverside park, the various divisions, except such companies detailed to take part in the final ceremonies, dropped out of line and turned into the by streets only retracing their steps to the place for distribution. The procession was then gathered here, and it was with difficulty the police kept a space clear for the military and civic organizations which had dropped out to move off into the various by ways diverging from the main body.

The regulars took up positions on each side of the temporary tomb and awaited the arrival of the funeral car bearing the casket.

All approaches to the park were rigorously guarded by the police and none but the invited guests admitted.

The body arrived at the graves at 2:45, and burial rites of the G. A. R. were performed.

Dr. Newman followed with the reading of the burial services of the Methodist Episcopal church for the dead. There was no address.

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1885.

Now the youth and gentle maiden
Who are dreaming love's young dream,
Think that life is naught but sunshine,
Camellias and lemon dream.

The river began falling on Sunday.

LIBERATI, the famous cornetist, will be at Lexington during the fair.

To-night is the time fixed for the annual meteoric shower. Look out for it.

The commission of Mr. J. S. Cox, as Postmaster at Flemingsburg, has been issued.

It took two Kentucky Central trains, on Sunday, to bring back the visitors to the Deering Camp Meeting.

The Eastern Kentucky railway is constructing a transfer at Riverton, to be used in connection with the Scioto Valley railway.

SUNDAY was another intensely warm day, the mercury standing at ninety-six degrees. If the backbone of summer has been broken it hasn't been discovered in this vicinity.

HON. R. F. PRITCHARD, attorney for Henry Freese, sentenced to be hanged at Catlettsburg, August 14, for the murder of Chess Honaker, is in Frankfort, interceding with the Governor for a respite for his client.

DR. CHARLES W. WARDELL, champion gardener of East Maysville, will have to pick his flint and come again, as we are obliged to credit to Mr. George Burrows, of that part of town, a tomato that weighs one and three-quarter pounds.

THE PORTSMOUTH, (O.) BLADE says: "The poor laboring classes of Eastern Kentucky and West Virginia are coming down out of the back townships to the bottom lands and offering their services for twenty-five cents per day and board."

The proceeds of the concert on Tuesday evening, at which Miss Julia Gould has kindly consented to appear, will be used for the purpose of buying a piano, which the opera house has long needed. Miss Gould ought to be greeted by a large audience.

THE PORTSMOUTH TIMES says: A party of Maysville serenaders played and sang an hour and twenty minutes in front of a certain residence before they discovered that the young lady had gone to the springs. She doubtless got an inkling of the proposed serenade.

IT has been clearly demonstrated this year that spring wheat can be profitably grown in this state. Mr. Charles Ecton, one of Clark County's most successful farmers, sowed about sixty bushels of it last spring. He finished threshing last week and had a yield of 800 bushels.

UNCLE HADLEY HARRISON, of Lewis County, who has a pleasant way of remembering his newspaper friends every now and then, has left at this office a basket of apples of several fine varieties. We are very certain that no better ones have been brought to Maysville this year.

SHERIFF DAN PERRINE, who had been invited as one of the County officers to take part in the funeral procession on Saturday afternoon, but was prevented by his official duties from doing so, insisted upon Grand Marshal Davis using his horse, though he had to hire one for his own use. When it is considered that Sheriff Perrine thinks more of his horse than he does of himself, the generosity of the act will be appreciated.

MISS JULIA F. GOULD, who has kindly consented to appear in concert next Tuesday for the benefit of the opera house, received her musical education at Milan, Italy, and has for several years been connected with Stroksch's and other well known opera companies in this country. She is a vocalist of high talent and our citizens ought to see that the opera house is crowded on the occasion of her appearance. Miss Gould will be assisted by Mrs. Stanley, Leila Wheeler, and Lotta McDowell, and by Professor Frost and Mr. John L. Mathews.

The memorial procession, on Saturday afternoon, during the hours of the burial of General Grant, at Riverside Park, New York, was one of the most imposing affairs that ever took place in this city. All the military and civil organizations took part, as announced, in the procession and moved through the principal streets of the city at the appointed hour, in admirable order. Guns were fired every fifteen minutes during the day by Joseph Heiser G. A. R. Post, beginning at sunrise and closing with a national salute at sunset. Grand Marshal Davis and his aids are to be congratulated upon the success of their work.

Sudden Death.

On Saturday afternoon, Frank Smith, aged about thirty years, a carriage trimmer at the establishment of Dietrich & Sons, who had been drinking heavily during the day, went to Marshal James Redmond, at the station house, and asked to be locked up in order that he might not be able to get liquor. Mr. Redmond complied with his request, and he remained in confinement until Sunday morning, when he asked to be released. About nine o'clock that morning he returned to the station house under the influence of liquor and again asked to be put under lock and key, but Mr. Redmond declined to confine him in the condition that he was in, but gave him permission to go up stairs and lie down until he was able to go to his boarding house.

About half past eight o'clock that night he came down stairs again and asked Mr. Mike Redmond to give him some water. A drink from the hydrant was given him, but as he wanted ice water, and there was none in the building, he said he would go down town and get it. He then asked for matches that he might go to stairs and get his hat and coat. Mr. Redmond gave him these and retired to his bed. This morning, about six o'clock, Smith was found dead at the foot of the stair case leading to the second story of the old jail building. Two empty bottles were found on his body, one of which had contained a preparation of chloral. An inquest was held over the remains this morning by Coroner Cockrell and a jury and a verdict rendered that death was occasioned by some cause unknown. The deceased came to this city four or five years ago from Georgetown, Ohio, where his relatives now live. He was not a married man.

County Court Proceedings.

S. A. Piper qualified as trustee of Stan Clift, with James H. Shanklin as surety.

The third mile of the Lowell and Sardis turnpike road was reported completed by the examining commissioners and the Treasurer of Mason County ordered to pay the President of said road the sum of $1,000 in part payment of the county subscription.

The report of a settlement with George Myall, administrator of John Johnson, deceased, filed at the last term and laid over for exceptions, was ordered to be recorded.

The report of a settlement with Alice K. Adamson, guardian of Judith A. Keith (now Browning) was ordered to be recorded.

The report of a settlement with S. H. Fleming, administrator of Charlotte Fleming, deceased, was filed and laid over for exceptions.

W. W. Ball, County Clerk, produced in court certificates of the board for comparing the poll books of this county for the election held August 3, 1885, showing the vote upon local option in Mayslick and Dover precincts, and same was ordered to be recorded.

PERSONALS.

Mr. Walter B. Phister is rustication at the Escalpia Springs.

Miss Mamie Perry, is visiting Miss Rebecca Crain, at Ripley.

Miss Anna Blane, of the Sardis vicinity is the guest of the Misses Burrows, of Forest avenue.

Misses Lucy Honaker and Ida Caines, of VANCEBURG, are the guests of Mrs. John C. Lovel.

Mr. Charles Phister, and her granddaughter, Eva, Bruce Lowrey went to Ruggles Camp Meeting, on last Thursday and will remain until the last sermon is preached, the last song is sung, and the benediction pronounced.

Miss Mattie Bush, of Cincinnati, who has been visiting the family of Mr. C. W. Daranil, left this morning by the steamer St. Lawrence for her home, to the regret of many young gentlemen, who were fortunate enough to form her acquaintance.

Walks About Town.

To look at the various fellow beings we meet in the streets is an interesting study. Queer people some of them are. Some are proud of their clothes, while some shuffle along in tatters. Some are cheerful, others are melancholy. Some have a light and happy step, others plod on as if marching to the grave. What a good thing it would be to give each of the sad and weary ones a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters! How it would nerve them up and make them know the blessing of hearty health! Mr. Schutt, of Kiel, Wis., says, "Brown's Iron Bitters cured me of general ill health."

Score One for Washington.

General James E. Mannen is the champion snake-killer. He has killed several large black snakes this season and one day last week, while removing a rock pile, he killed thirty-nine snakes with one blow of a sledge hammer, an old one and thirty-eight young ones. They were of the variety known as Moccasin.

Drowned.

William Bell, of Chester, colored, cabin boy on the steamer Handy No. 2, was drowned at Vanceburg. Sunday evening about half past eight o'clock. He was bathing in the river from the boat and it is supposed was seized with cramp. The body up to the time the Handy left Vanceburg, had not been recovered.

Twas moonlight fete advertised to take place at Lewisburg, August 6th, under the auspices of Branson's band, on account of unsuitable weather, was postponed until August 14th.

The circus due here next month will find a spot in the lot of the upper end of Chester.

THREE LETTERS.

"So you have for me three letters to-morrow, To whom I say, 'God's shrine. I can see by your face that your sorrow At parting does not equal mine.'

"Since you wish it, I'll write to you often, That you'll send me, my ladies to soften Three letters, and those—y-e-x."

"A shrewd old gentleman once said to his daughter, 'I'm sure you won't say you never marry a poor man, but remember that the poorest man in the world is one that has money and nothing else.'

Ruggles' Camp Meeting.

Ruggles Camp Meeting opened Thursday evening with a baptismal service led by Rev. C. J. Howes. It was a time of great spiritual power. Friday's services opened with sunrise, prayer meeting, then experience meeting at 9 o'clock, led by Rev. J. H. Marriot, this, the first meeting, was a time of delightful meeting, the testimonies being clear, pointed and in rapid succession.

At 10:30, Rev. G. S. Easton preached from the story of Norton's "The Man that the Devil Met" and his wife, "Cleopatra." At 2 o'clock, Miss Ida Vonholthold children's meeting in the children's chapel and the sisters Vonholthold led the 3 o'clock meeting in the Tabernacle. At 4 o'clock, Rev. W. F. Fitzgerald, from the text, "Put on the Whole Armor of God." This, the first day, of the camp meeting was, as you will see fully occupied in serving God, each service concluded with altar service and led in several conversations and sanctifications.

Saturday, opened up clear and pleasant and the sunrise prayer meeting was much more largely attended. The 9 o'clock experience meeting led by Rev. F. M. Williams, was a time of power, testimonies coming rapidly one after another and were especially rich.

At 10:30, Rev. G. A. M., of Ashland, Ky., preached at 10:30, from the text, "Put on the Whole Armor." This, the first day, of the camp meeting was, as you will see fully occupied in serving God, each service concluded with altar service and led in several conversations and sanctifications.

SONG.

(Chicago Tribune.)
O, I would I had a lover!
A sweet a lover!
O, were I a lover,
With a twining light guitar,
To come beneath my easement
Singing—“There is none like her,”
With a heart to love to never
In the scent of his cigar!

Then at morn I'd want to meet him—
To meet him! to meet him!
O, I'd want to meet him,
And the dew was in the sky,
And the dew the path I went—
To really greet him,
And to meet him, to never
And regret it by any by.

And I'd want to meet his brother—
His brother! his brother!
O, I'd want to meet his brother
At the gate,
To put a rose on his lapel
And lightly kiss the other.
And kiss the brother,
While he thought the other way.

I'd pitilessly test him!
And let him, and test him!
I'd pitilessly test him
For bayonet his own could
And every blow a living tire
With which I could arrest him,
I'd loosen to maledict him,
All my heart went to him!

But ah, when I pitiless!

Relented! relented!

But O, when I pitiless!

—When stars were blurred and dim,
When we were alone, with crescent grace

Looked off as I pitiless, And with rapture half demented,
All my heart went to him!

For the waiter,

(Boston Beech.)

“Suppose you don't receive any fee, what is the result?”

“Well, we don't like it, of course, particularly when we are but very handimen. That is hardly any of us but will show our displeasure and some will go still further than that.”

“Why, what will you do?”

“Oh, that depends on who the person is. If he knows better—that is, if he has had any experience in the world, and we can generally size up a person pretty well—we go off and leave him alone for him to be forgotten. If he is a man who was brought up in the large hotels who was asked by a countryman who never gave a fee to bring in one of them wash-boats, referring to the finger-boats, the waiter went and bought a wash-boats. Wasn't that man disgusted, though?”

“Do not the proprietors object to your receiving gratuities?” was then asked.

“No, indeed, and in many places they require it, and it is well. The pay of a first-class waiter is not over $20 a month, but in a place like this he can make as much again by fees—particularly,” he added after a moment's pause. “And a man in a newspaper man's when he has such generous customers. Thank you, sir,” and the waiter, his face wreathed in smiles, pocketed
the silver with evident satisfaction.
